LOCARBO Final Event

The end of LOCARBO project was celebrated today at its final conference, which once again brought together partners and stakeholders around a common goal!

Alessandro Attolico, Project Manager Coordinator, started by looking back on the path taken by the partnership over the past 5 years and Anne Rocheteau, Interreg Europe Joint Secretariat, summarized the results achieved by the project, as well as future collaboration opportunities that are foreseen within Interreg Europe programme.

Political representatives and relevant authorities/agencies/experts participated in a first panel to present perspectives, tools and actions for improving the transition towards low-carbon and climate resilient economies and behaviour in each partner region.

Finally, partners shared results: within LOCARBO, 4 policy instruments have been improved and 3 pilot actions have been implemented, replicating a good practice identified by the partnership in 3 other regions.

Plans for future cooperation have been made as partners wish to take advantage of the proven fruitful partnership to enhance and extend the results achieved so far.
